

Philanthropy Statements

Definitely disagree and feel strongly against it

Definitely agree and feel strongly about it

Everyone has just enough time and money to do what is really important to him or her.

People should give to and serve each other because it is the right thing to do.

Teachers encourage us to plan and implement community service projects.

Giving money to charitable causes is the responsibility of adults, not young people.

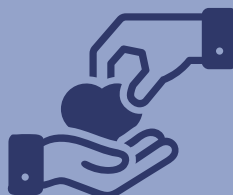

Giving and serving is more than just doing; it is part of who you really are, your character.

Philanthropy is only for the rich.

Even people who may not have much money can still give something to others.

Students have an opportunity at school to use their leadership gifts effectively.

Our school encourages its students to volunteer.
